

Plant therapy in Persian poem

M. Moein, A. Kolahdouzan*

Abstract:

Human beings always look after nature and its features to improve their life and it becomes the first line of human knowledge.

In this way, knowing different aspects of medical plants has an old history surviving them causes catching historical knowledge.

We can see some aspects of plant therapy in different universal cultures. This subject in Persian poems, the widest area of Iranian culture, has an important aspect.

Iranian poets point to the medical plants and their applications and they use them in mysticism, lyric, ...

Surviving this significant aspect in Persian poems shows the importance of medical plants between Iranians. We see how poets connect some of their knowledge to the poems.

By studying these works we can see using that knowledge today.

Keywords: Medical plants, Persian poems, orchis, alowera, Artemisia.

* CORRESPONDING AUTHOR: KOLAHDOUZAN@MNG.MUI.AC.IR